Hermaphrodites Speak!

video, 30 minutes, NTSC (PAL available*) $30

Before 1997, virtually the only pictures of intersex people available were terribly pathologizing and dehumanizing photos accompanying medical texts with utterly sterile descriptions of intersex etiology and prescriptions for treatment. Such depictions were far from comforting or helpful for those whose lives were touched by intersexuality.

"It's time for the mutilation of little children to stop and we be allowed to live, who we are, whole and un mutilated."

In 1996, for the first time, intersex people came together for a weekend retreat to discuss their lives and their pain, and to heal together. This film documents the incredible spirit that grew during that weekend. Eight of the retreat-goers sit together and speak simply, forcefully, and articulately about themselves and about their passion to change social and medical treatment of people who are born different.

Because this tape was produced as a home video, the image quality is poor, but the sound is quite good. This tape has been screened in film festivals, college classes, and professional conferences world-wide.
