Sandra's Fantasy Land

One is greeted at the door of Fantasy Land by a genial TV, Joe Kleingunther, who opened up the Philadelphia boutique less than a year ago.

Specializing in serving TVs, Joe dresses his windows with the fancy lingerie from his inventory — which is "naughty undies." The sexy and sensuous lingerie includes corsets, waist cinchers, panties, cut-out bras, nightgowns, robes, nylons, garterbelts, push-up bras and open crotch panties in wild shades of pink, red, purple and black.

Editor Sandra Mesics visited the boutique recently to model some of the beautiful fashions and gather a story for FEMALE IMPERSONATOR. She went "bananas" during the visit, trying on outfit after outfit, which are all stocked in larger sizes, especially for the average TV.

Joe is a TV himself, so he knows what turns on the group. He keeps his small shop filled with goodies and a real plus is the friendly and understanding atmosphere. It's worth a trip to Fantasy Land, located at 3427 Kensington Ave., Philadelphia (under the el). Hours are Monday through Saturday, 12 noon to 6 p.m.

The photos on pages 4, 5, 6 and 7 are of Sandra, taken in the boutique. Since its opening, crossdressers have come from all over Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York to do their lingerie shopping.

6 LACE-UP — Luxurious acetate satin corselet with contrasting lace and ribbon trim. Underwire bra with foam cups for support. Three-way convertible straps with detachable garters. Sizes 32-38 average cup.

AROUSER — Sexy black lace over luminous satin, push up half cup. Detachable straps and garters. In sizes 32-38 average cup.

Fantasy Land also carries Neptune publications and Joe is constantly finding new things to stock — to the degree that he is out shopping for a larger store in the area. He hopes to find a facility where TVs can come to visit, dress to their hearts' content, spend the night, hit the nightspots in Philly, indulge in their favorite fantasies — right there in Fantasy Land

BRANDEL'S FOLLIES REVUE

The Good Old Days

In this issue of FEMALE IMPERSONATOR we again look back to the good old days, those days that have been called the "heyday of professional female impersonation." It's hard not to feel nostalgic when we look back at the great clubs like the Club 82 in New York and Finnoccio's in San Francisco, where female mimics were the sold entertainment and packed in crowds show after show. In those days the acts had class — more impersonators used their own voices for singing rather than simply miming to recorded music. They spent a lot of money and time on costumes that were nothing less than lavish with rhinestones, sequins and feathers. The mimics themselves were more professional in their demeanor. When off-stage they rarely wore female clothing.

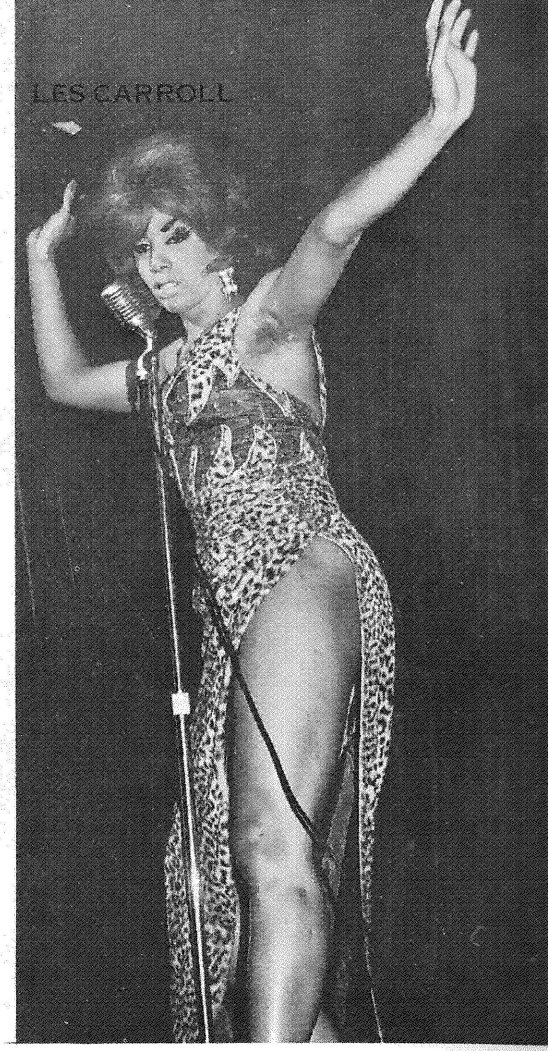

In the past, the professional female impersonator rarely took female hormones to give him a female bust or softer skin. Instead, he relied on makeup, ingeniously padded undergarments, and all the tricks of makeup to achieve an illusion of complete femininity. The results were often better than we see today, although many mimics have had female hormones, plastic surgery and various implants to achieve the illusion of femininity.

Today, female impersonation has emerged in all facets of show business: the movies, television, and novels. However, the transvestite theme is usually only secondary. In comedy, female mimicry is still a mainstay; we've seen Monty Python's troupe perform in drag, as well as the British comedian, Benny Hill, and the zany gang on Saturday Night Live. They all use female impersonation to its full comic potential. Almost all television detective shows at one time or another have a male culprit who commits crime in drag. However, there have been very few serious female impersonators who have made it big in the television medium.

Part of the problem can be attributed to the general decline of cabaret theatre and night clubs because of the cost of live entertainment and competition from television and movies. Female impersonation clubs have all but vanished and about the only places where mimic troups can be seen working are occasional gay or straight bars for limited engagements. Of course, there are the sleazy burlesque houses, where the female impersonator has "freak" value due to his half-and-half sexual status. In these places, the impersonator has to show it all to destroy the illusion, whereas in the past, the impersonator simply removed his wig. Times sure have changed!

That's why it is so much fun to take a look back, when men were men and women were women, and female impersonators had quite a gap to cross. Today it is all too easy, yet a lot of people will argue that the impersonators today aren't successful in crossing that narrowed gap. As you can see from looking through these pages, the oldsters were indeed magnificent and we owe them a lot — they made transvestism familiar to the public and helped TVs get recognition. They taught crossdressers a lot about female poise, carriage and makeup. They blazed the trail that made it easier for transsexuals to cross the gender line. We owe them a debt of gratitude for being out there when nobody understood. They made transvestism almost respectable, if not acceptable to the public.

As you look through this issue of FEMALE IMPERSONATOR, you will see how the crossdressing scene has changed through the years from the professional female impersonators to the new breed of transvestites emerging from the closet, meeting the public and getting together with one another. Perhaps we stand on the threshold of a new era, but in doing so it is good to look back and see our roots.

YOU MADE ME WHAT I AM TODAY, YOU RASCAL YOU!

To look at me now, you never would suspect that at one time, I wasn't the least bit kinky. Now, I'm sitting at my desk writing this letter while I'm attired in my favorite outfit — a black disco dress, slit up the side to reveal my clean shaven thighs and the tops of my black nylon stockings. Underneath, what you can't see is the tight satin corset that gives me a perfect feminine figure, the padded bra cups and the black lace panties. I have on a pair of stiletto-heeled black pumps.

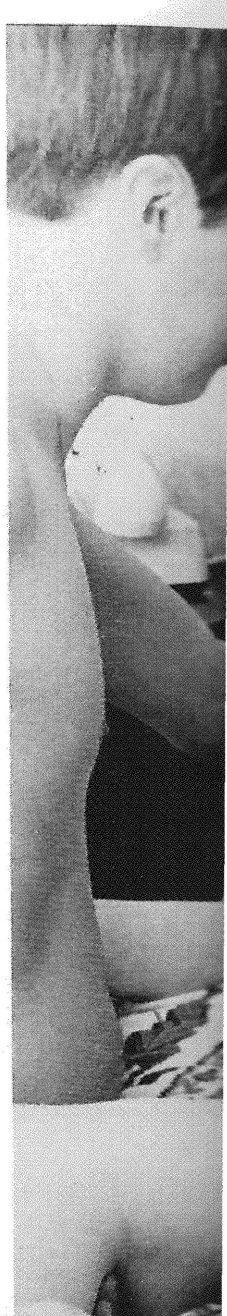

I am wearing my long blonde wig, perfectly combed so that even a hairdresser couldn't tell that it's not the real thing. My makeup is perfect, the result of months of experimenting with dozens of shades of base, blusher and eyeshadow. My lips are full and crimson, and when I look into my mirror, I get excited just observing myself. Not too surprising, you say? But what if I told you that I was a male and until a couple of months ago, I was completely straight. You don't believe it? Well, it's true. It happened like this:

I was hanging around the Circus disco, a place that was becoming very trendy with all the "beautiful people" hanging out there. I was with my buddy, Randy, and we were drinking and snorting a little cocaine and just getting high. We were checking out the women like we usually did, and were watching some of the faggots dancing with each other. I wasn't really against it. It just looked ridiculous to me — I couldn't figure out what guys saw in each other.

Well, on this night there was this chick and she was looking really fine. Her dress was clingy and it showed off a graceful, slender body. Her hair was almost jet black and her skin was as white as snow. Her makeup was flawless. I immediately fell in love with her eyes. They were sparkling green and alive. Unfortunately Randy saw her at the same time, so we agreed that we would both take a shot at her. More than once we both took the same girl home and made out with her. I wouldn't mind sharing this number with my buddy — I'd even take sloppy seconds!

We introduced ourselves and she said, in a low husky voice that was very sexy that her name was Natalie. We talked for a little while and took turns buying her drinks. She was real nice, but kind of shy, like she was sizing us up and afraid to let us know what she was thinking. We each took turns dancing with her, but while I was out on the floor with her, she didn't tell me anything else about herself.

When it was getting late, I suggested to her that we go to her place for the nightcap. It always puts chicks at ease if you tell 'em you'll come to their place. She looked at Randy and me for a couple of minutes, and said, "You really don't know who you're dealing with."

Randy and I looked at each other trying to figure out what the hell she was talking about.

"You guys don't know, do you?"

"Know what?" I asked.

She laughed nervously, "Uh, that I'm a boy."

"Aw, come on," Randy said in disbelief. "we seen drag queens before, with all that makeup and stuff, and you sure ain't one of them."

"But I am," Natalie persisted.

Her face was sincere and I believed her . . . or him, or . . . All I knew was that even though I knew she was a boy, I was still attracted to her, and it looked as though Randy was, too. We spent another hour sitting at the bar while Natalie told us about herself. She was an incredible person. She said that at times she liked to think of herself as a woman and liked to dress as one, even though she had no intention of having a sex change operation.

At closing time, Natalie asked us if we still wanted to take her home, so we did. When we got to her place, my buddy, Randy, surprised me by putting the moves on the pretty shemale. I didn't want to be left out of the fun, so I took part in undressing her. Natalie dressed more sexily than most girls I knew. She wore stockings and frilly garterbelts and stuff. It was a real pleasure to see all that sexy lingerie. Although I could see the bulge in her panties, I was nevertheless getting a terrific erection. I noticed that Randy was pretty excited, too.

We all tumbled on the bed together, and sure enough, Natalie was 100% male. But she had little breasts and soft skin, the result of taking female hormones. She knelt down on the bed, putting her lovely face between my legs and taking my cock into her mouth. Then she proceeded to give me head like I never got from a woman. I suppose that since Natalie had a cock, she knew what to do to make a blow job feel good. She had no trouble deep-throating my schlong.

Meanwhile, Randy poised himself between Natalie's legs and entered her from behind. I could hear the shemale grunt as he entered her, but she didn't stop sucking on my cock for even a second. I was impressed. Soon Randy was pounding all of his cock inside her asshole, his balls bouncing against hers. She wriggled and squeezed it with her muscles, quickly milking his cock of all its gism. Not too long after that, I felt my own cock begin to jump, and I pumped all of my load into Natalie's mouth.

We rested for a little while and then had some wine. We were feeling very mellow, but Randy had to get home so he could get up early for work the next day. He said goodbye and left Natalie and me alone. That's when all the weirdness started. I must have been high or something, but I told Natalie that I envied her. When she asked why, I said it was because I wished I could be a pretty girl like her.

She laughed in disbelief, but then she caught the expression on my face and stopped. She looked at me very seriously for a couple of minutes and then told me that I could, with a little work, look very pretty as a girl. I told her she was crazy, but she said she could prove it. She took me by the hand and led me into the bathroom. Natalie handed me her razor and told me to shave real close. While I lathered up, she rummaged through some makeup, holding some tubes and jars up to my face. By the time I was finished shaving, she was ready.

The shemale worked on my face for more than an hour, trying things and sometimes wiping it off and starting over. When she was finally finished, I wanted to turn around and look at myself in the mirror. But she wouldn't let me until she had selected first one wig, discarded it, and then tried another. When she was satisfied with the result, she finally let me see myself. I was amazed. I wasn't a beauty or anything — my eyebrows were too bushy and I should have shaved closer, but I looked like a girl. I didn't think it was possible.

Then we went back into the bedroom and Natalie put a bra on me. She stuffed the cups with some falsies, which gave me a terrific-looking chest, and then put a garterbelt around my waist. To the dangling straps, I affixed the sheer nylons that I had carefully rolled up my hairy legs. They felt so sensuous going on, that I resolved the next day I would buy some for myself. Lastly, Natalie helped me slip into one of her dresses, a simple black clingy knit that was a little too tight, but otherwise satisfactory.

Once again I studied myself in the mirror and I knew that I liked what I saw. In a curious way, Natalie did, too. When we went to bed together again, with both of us in drag, I noticed for the first time that Natalie had an erection. I surprised myself by taking it into my mouth and sucking on it. Strangely enough, it all seemed all right. I would normally never have done this, but dressed as I was, I felt like a woman. At the same time, I was turned on by the femininity in Natalie. We fell into the sixty-nine position and spent the rest of the night making love. We finally fell asleep in the same position and soon the morning sunlight came in the window. That night changed all my future nights.

To make a long story short, after months of polishing my makeup techniques, learning to walk, talk and act like a woman, I made my debut with Natalie. We went to the Circus, where we both had a wonderful time flirting with the guys who bought us drinks and made indecent propositions. But the highlight of the evening came when Randy walked over to Natalie to say "hi," and asked who her foxy friend was. She introduced me as Rhoda. There was no hint of recognition in his eyes.

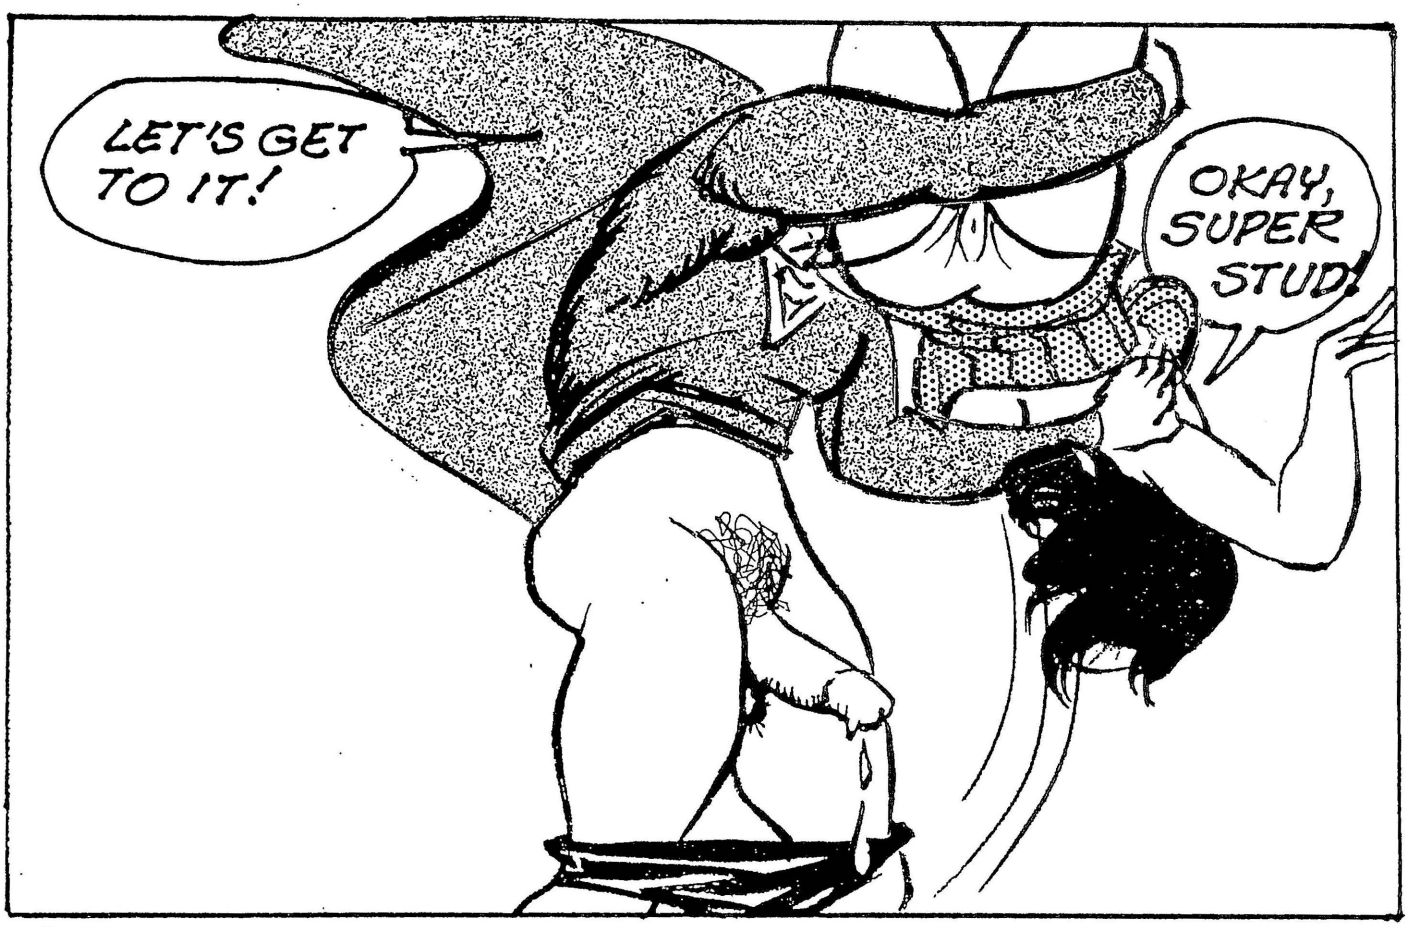

I could tell you what happened when Natalie and I took Randy home and seduced him, but I'll have to save that story for another time. Right now, I've got to go, because Randy is knocking at the door to take me to dinner.

A NIGHT OFF THE STREET WITH OUR MAIN MAN

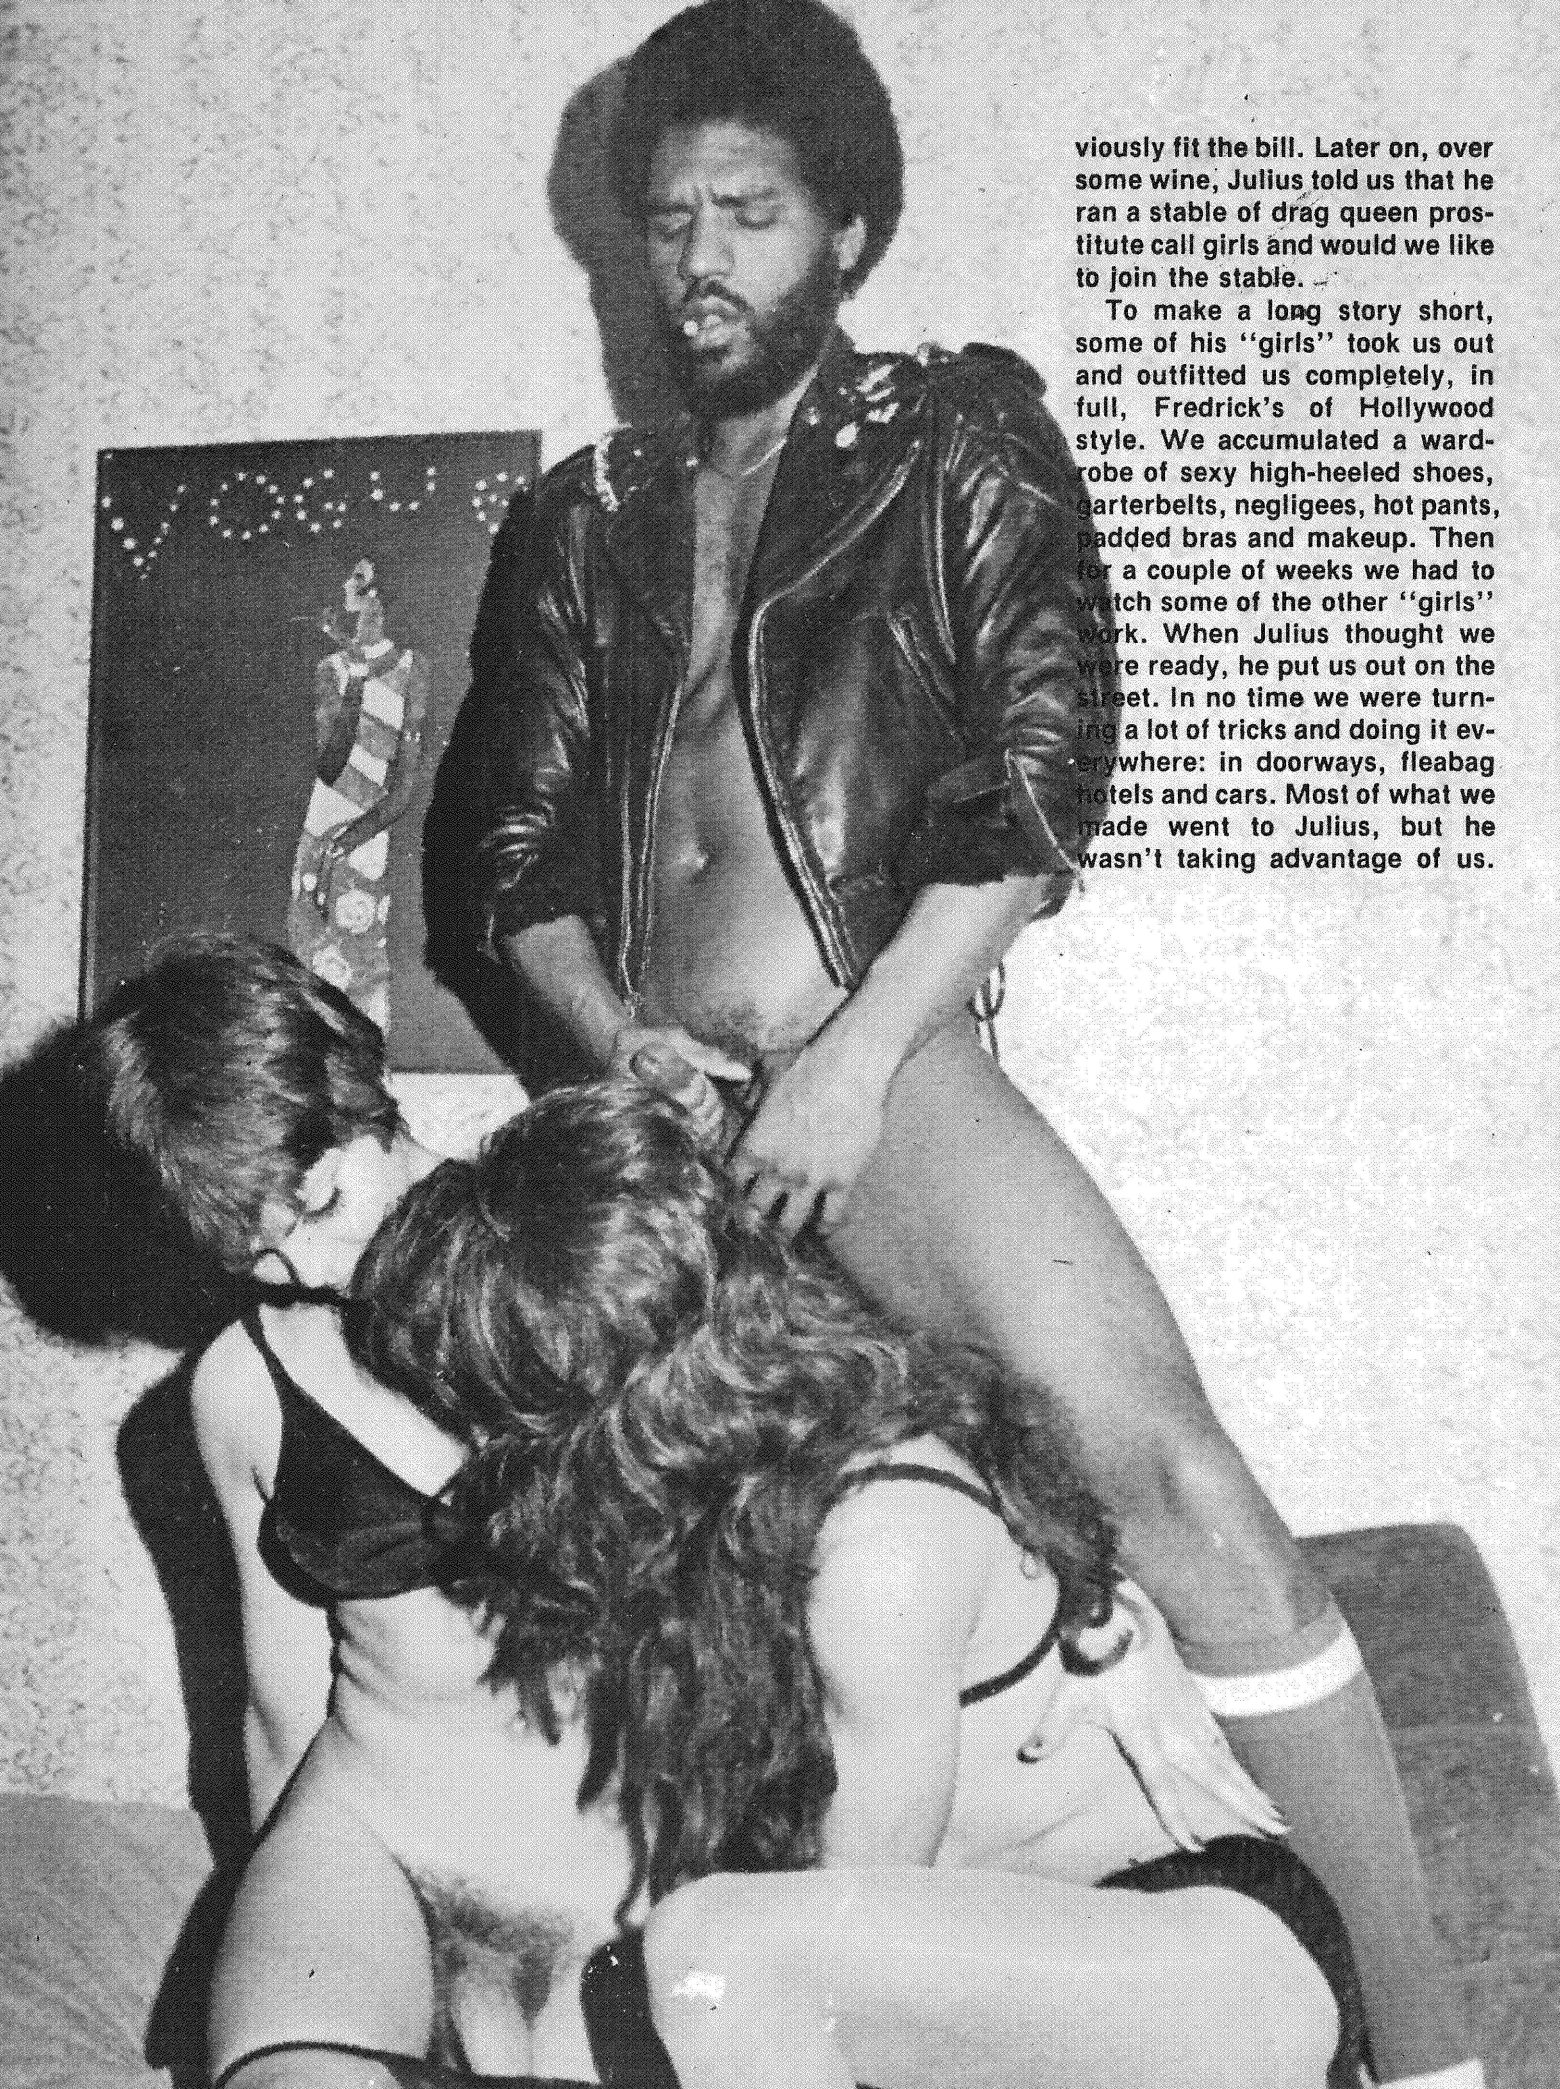

It's a real treat when Julius, our main man, takes us off the streets for an evening. He usually has us working every night, hustling johns in the streets. You might think that's an awful lifestyle, but we are sure doing better than we did as plain, ordinary faggots hustling old men in Washington Square. We were working there one night when along comes this gorgeous black dude in a flashy Lincoln Continental, pulls over to the sidewalk and gets out. He looks Billy and me over and asks how much. We tell him, and we're surprised when he tells both of us to get into the car. We go to his place in a gorgeous high rise.

For the rest of the night, julius made it with us. He fucked me in the ass while Billy watched, and then a little while later I lay back massaging my sore bottom and watched my sidekick sucking off his magnificent black cock. Julius was really hung and seemed to have a perpetual erection. He really had a thing for young slim white boys and Billy and me obviously fit the bill. Later on, over some wine, Julius told us that he ran a stable of drag queen prostitute call girls and would we like to join the stable.

To make a long story short, some of his "girls" took us out and outfitted us completely, in full, Fredrick's of Hollywood style. We accumulated a wardrobe of sexy high-heeled shoes, garterbelts, negligees, hot pants, padded bras and makeup. Then for a couple of weeks we had to watch some of the other "girls" work. When Julius thought we were ready, he put us out on the street. In no time we were turning a lot of tricks and doing it everywhere: in doorways, fleabag hotels and cars. Most of what we made went to Julius, but he wasn't taking advantage of us.

We kept a little for food and an apartment. Julius sent us to an electrolygist to get rid of our facial hair. In about a year, neither of us had to shave any more. Then, he started sending us to a plastic surgeon. I had a bad acne problem, so I had a face peel. Billy had a huge nose that he got bobbed into a very feminine pug nose. And, of course, both of us had our breasts enlarged — Billy is a little larger than me — his are 40Ds while mine are only 38Cs.

It seemed that the more time we spent as women, wearing women's clothes and turning tricks, the more we liked the life. It was like a drug. But sometimes I wonder what will happen when we get old. Every time we start thinking like that, Julius will take us off the street and give us a night on the town.

Usually it starts with dinner at one of those little Italian restaurants. Julius really likes to be seen with two beautiful white "ladies" — one on each arm, and it feels so good to be treated like a lady. Then we see a show or movie and then it's back to his place for some serious lovemaking. Both Billy and I have made it with Julius one on one, but our main man likes to make it with the two of us at one time.

After a couple of drinks, he suggests that we start with each other, which is all right with me. It seems that lately I really am getting turned on by shemales. I love fondling Billy's huge tits. Soon I have a bulging hard-on and so does my partner. We slip into the classic sixty-nine position and suck on each other's cocks until one of us cums. That is usually me. Then, the one who still has the erection gets to fuck the other one in the ass. That's all right with me. I get on my hands and knees and Billy enters me from behind. Our nylon clad legs intertwine as he slams his cock into my anal opening. I love to feel his balls slapping rhythmically against my ass as he slides his tool home.

By the time Billy shoots his load, Julius is all ready. He orders Billy to eat the cum out of my asshole and, while I remain in position, he takes his glistening black cock out of his trousers and I hungrily gobble it up. He likes to check out our blowjobs and he makes suggestions on how to please better. Our main man is especially fond of getting deep-throated, something both of us are very good at.

I love to suck our black prince off, and feel him start to come by caressing his large balls as I suck his joystick. I can always tell when he is coming by the way his balls tighten up and start to pulse. Then I can be sure that his creamy white cum will be filling my mouth. I drink every drop of it and continue to suck on his cock until he gets hard again.

Then, Julius likes to fuck Billy. He says that Billy's asshole is tighter than mine, which is probably true, because there is nothing more pleasurable to me than to be fucked by some of Julius' black friends, most of whom have huge black cocks that stretched out my asshole. I don't mind, because I take a lot of pleasure in seeing Billy moan and writhe while he sticks his giant black tool into the tiny opening. Julius usually keeps up the fucking for an hour, by which time my friend is exhausted and completely sore. Nevertheless, tomorrow she will be back on the streets, trying to snare an unsuspecting sailor or businessman out to try something kinky.

I love our evenings with our main man , but I wonder how long they are going to last. He seems to have lost some interest in us, and a couple of nights ago he told Billy and me to take a new kid shopping. This one is barely eighteen, has long blond hair and a creamy complexion and looks about as gay as could be. I knew that he would look dynamite in drag, and wondered if maybe it wasn't time to go out and find another main man . . . .

In the beginning there was the closet: Very dark, very lonely. It was the home for many TVs. They dressed in secret, shared that secret with no one, and tried on occasion, out of guilt and shame, to destroy that horrid secret completely. Life for the crossdresser was grim. He was alone in the world — afraid to go into women's stores to buy clothes, afraid to admit that he was different. The only news he had about crossdressers came from the literature on psychology that called it an aberration. There might occasionally be a shocking article in one of the sensational tabloids, but that was about it. For all intents and purposes, the crossdresser felt that he was alone in his appreciation for feminine clothes.

Then, ever so gradually, things began to change. Magazines for and about transvestism began to appear. And the magazines on female impersonation began to shift their emphasis from the professional female impersonator to the transvestite — after finding out that transvestites made up the bulk of the readership of these magazines.

Feedback began to trickle in. Letters to the editor began to appear, some with poorly lit pictures of men who looked obviously like men, with women's clothes on. Then, there would be an occasional, discreetly worded personal ad that shyly hinted at a desire to communicate with other crossdressers. Soon, these ads began to increase in number and more of them were accompanied by photos of TVs dressed very conservatively in everyday clothes.

Over the next few years, the classified ads had increased in leaps and bounds, and had also begun to be more explicitly worded. More crossdressers actually wanted to risk meeting each other, not just correspond. More TVs frankly admitted that they were interested in meeting others for sex. New magazines appeared, composed mainly of personal ads, and the photos sent in by the readers became ever more sexy, sensuous and revealing. The crossdressers looked more relaxed as women, and did a better job of their impersonation.

All this reflects one important fact: TVs are no longer creatures of the closet. They are not dressers actually wanted to risk meeting each other, not just correspond. The Gallery of Greats

All this reflects one important fact: TVs are no longer creatures of the closet. They are not afraid to buy clothing that flatters them, and they are more skilled at makeup, possibly because there are boutiques that solicit the crossdresser trade and books that tell the "how to" of makeup and dress. TVs groups are springing up all over the country and people are answering personal ads like never before. More TVs are meeting each other face to face.

TVs are sending in their photos, many of which are presented in this issue of FEMALE IMPERSONATOR. There are more letters to the editor and more articles written by crossdressers. Not only are the magazines for the crossdresser; they are by the crossdresser as well. It may have taken twenty-five years, but crossdressers are now out of the closet — hopefully forever.

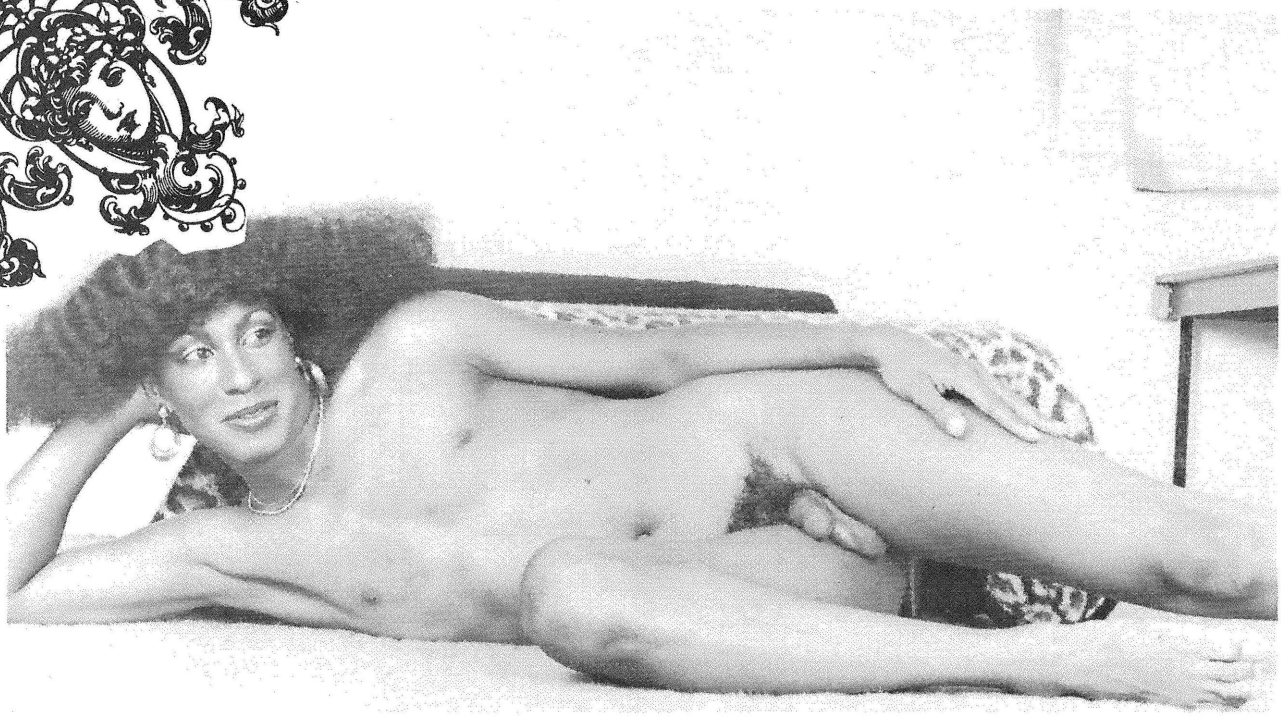

And Now....

PART II TYPES OF TVS

When you look at the various types of men who wear female clothing, you are at once stunned by the diversity of this group we call the crossdressers. You find that crossdressers are young, old, wealthy, poor, liberal, conservative, straight, gay, happy, sad, beautiful, and homely. Some crossdressers live as women, while others do it on occasion. Some dress completely as women, while others dress only in certain items of clothing, especially lingerie. Some men dress to make a living, either on stage or by turning tricks. Let's take a closer look at these individuals who call themselves crossdressers.

TRANSVESTITES

Transvestites take their crossdressing seriously. Some TVs rarely dress, but instead get their kicks by reading stories about crossdressing. Some men are turned on if the crossdressing is "forced" upon them by a dominant woman, while others dress completely as women every chance they get. A lot of transvestites are heterosexual, and some are married. The majority of married TVs have kept their activity a secret from their wives, while others have disclosed their crossdressing to their wives. Some women who are married to TVs go along with it, while others want nothing to do with it.

Most single TVs would like to find a girlfriend who will help them in their transformations, while other TVs would be willing to pay a woman to make them up and simply make "girl talk" with them.

Gay TVs, or drag queens, seem to be in the minority these days. The classic "drag queen" might be considered the Cinderella to the TV, who probably looks more like one of the plain sisters. Years ago, drag queens were generally flamboyant in dress, makeup, and general bitchiness. Generally they were farther out of the closet than their heterosexual counterparts, but these days the gay boys are doing a different kind of drag — leather or macho drag — witness the Village people. Five years ago they would have been the Village Sisters.

FEMALE IMPERSONATORS

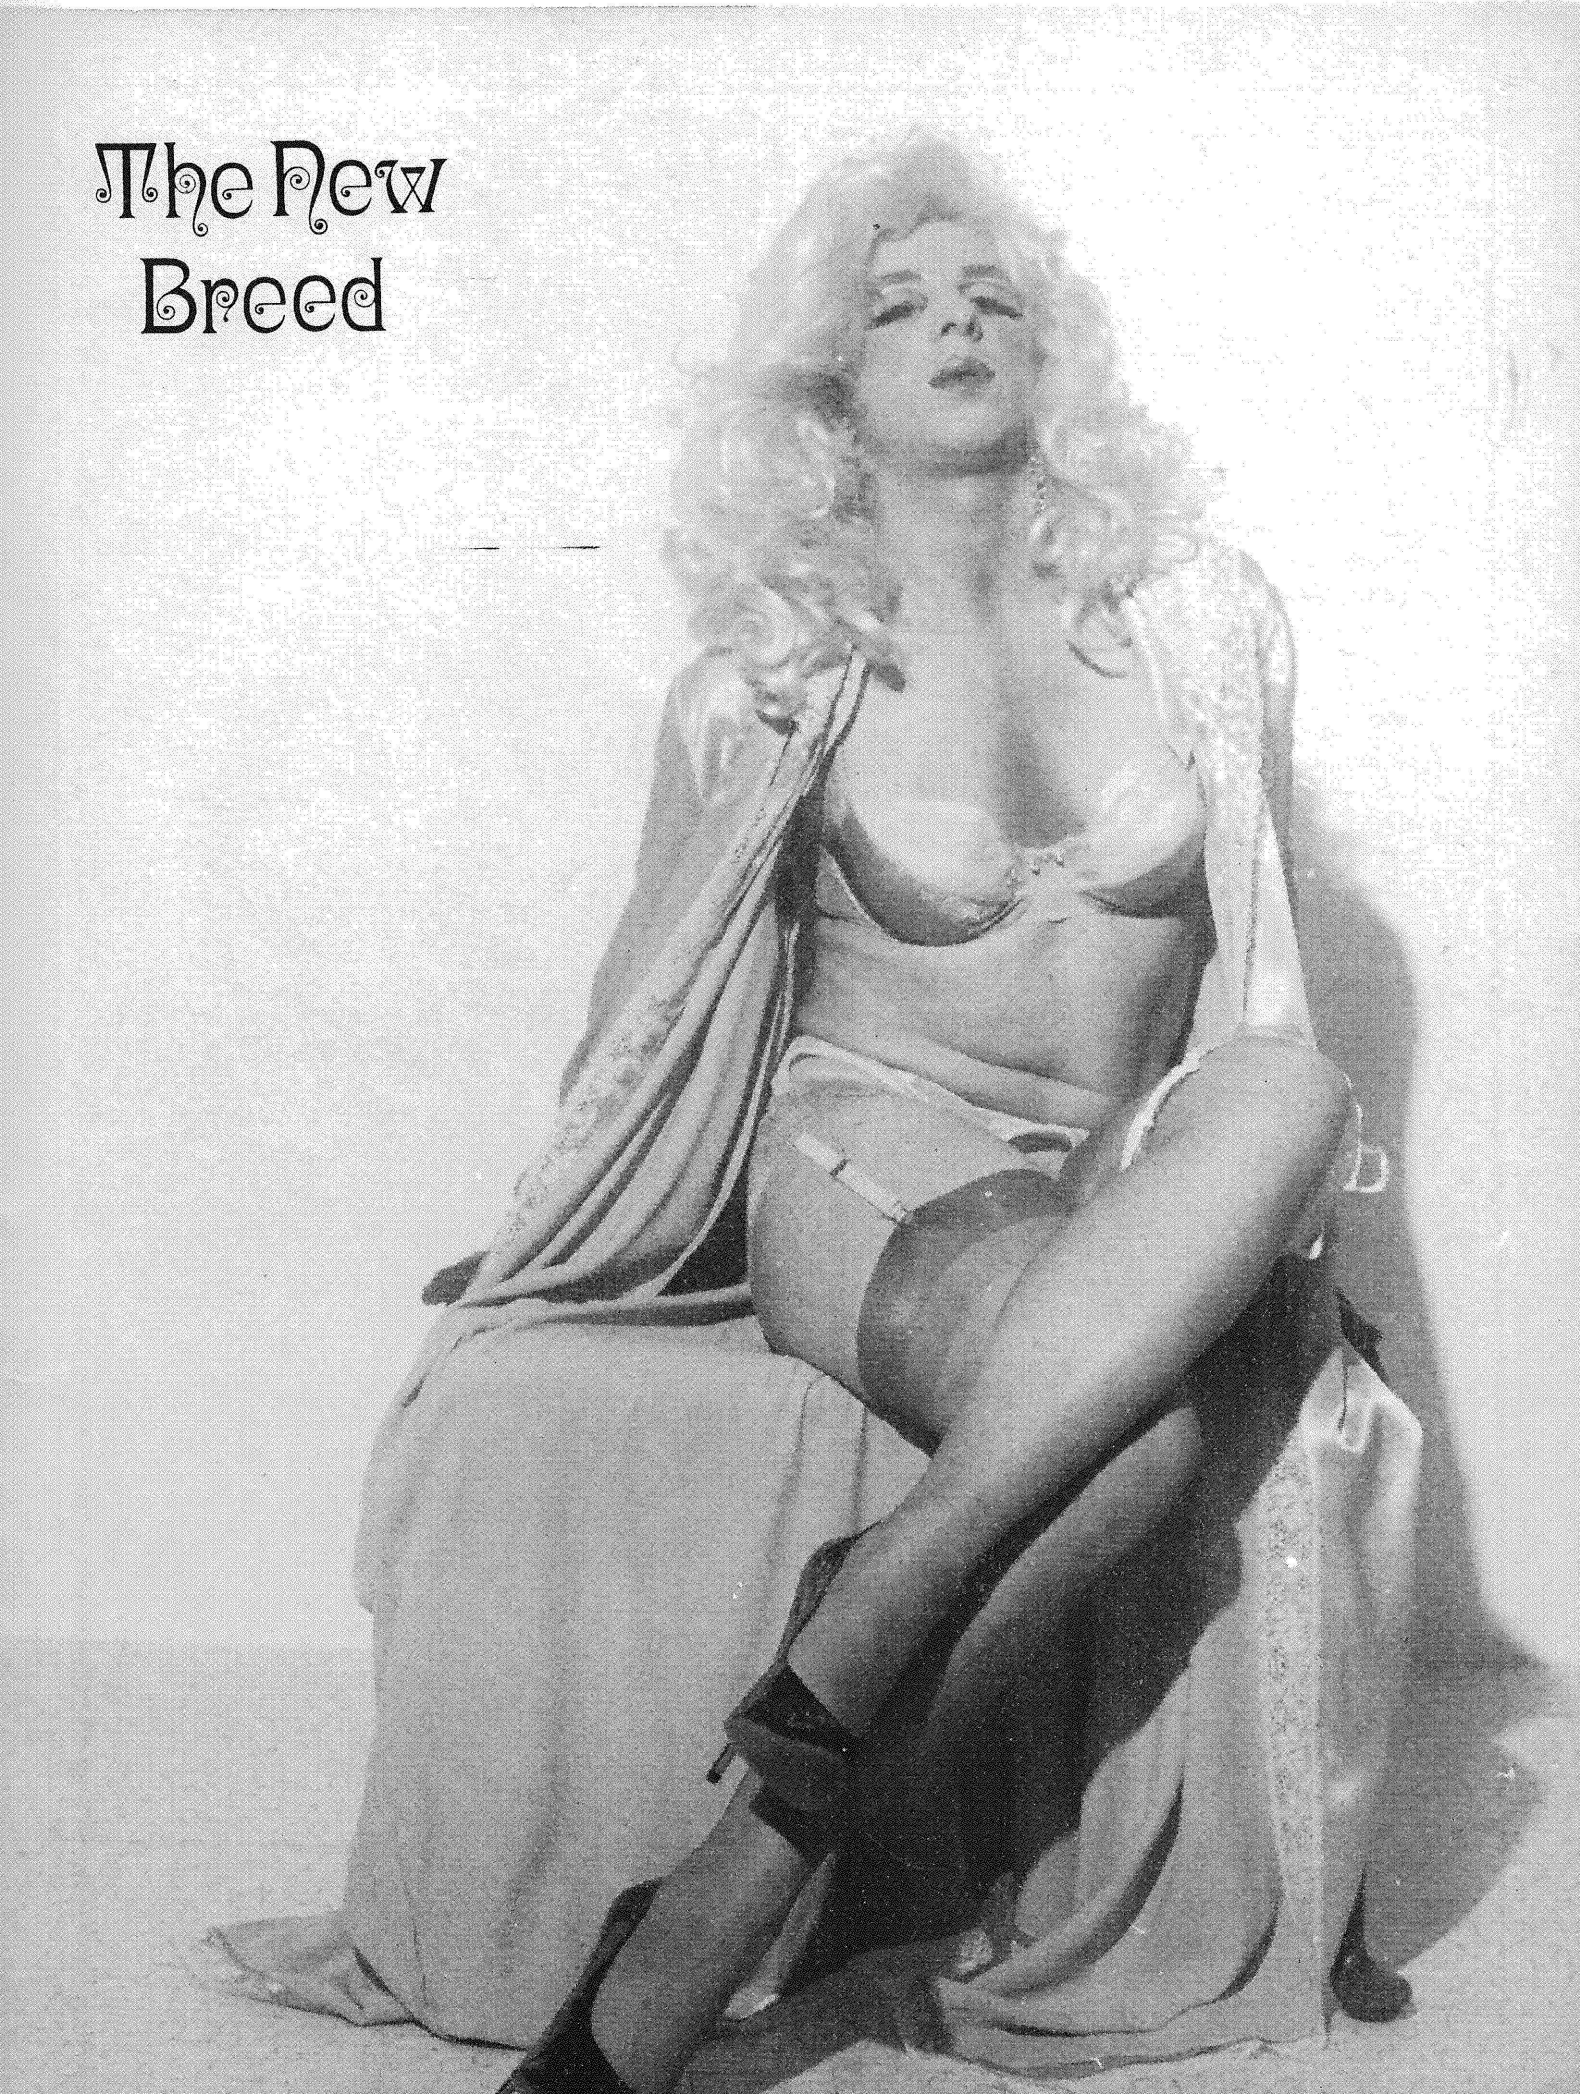

At one time, female impersonators uniformly expostulated the following image: They were straight, show business types who dressed as women only on stage, and only to make a living. When the curtain came down, the makeup came off, and it was back to suits and ties and perhaps smoking a pipe.

The French female impersonators, Coccinelle and Bambi, were the first mimics to break this mold publicly. They lived as women onstage and off, and eventually went on to have sex change operations. For a while they experienced even greater fame and notoriety and then faded into oblivion, but not before leaving their mark on the female impersonation world.

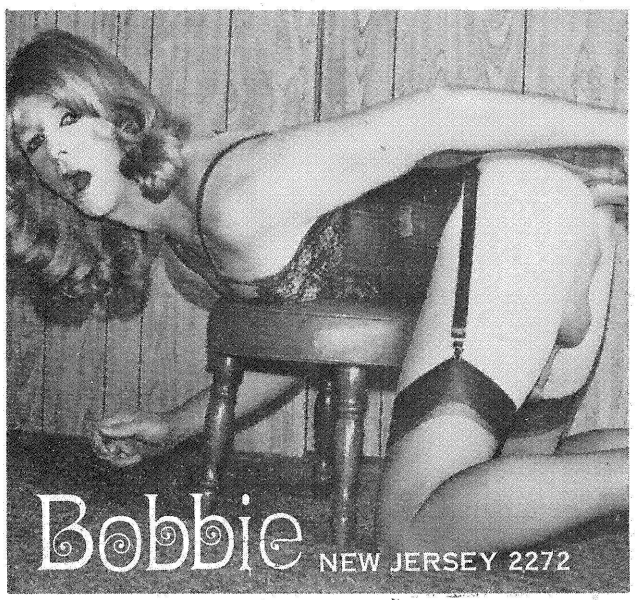

The New Breed

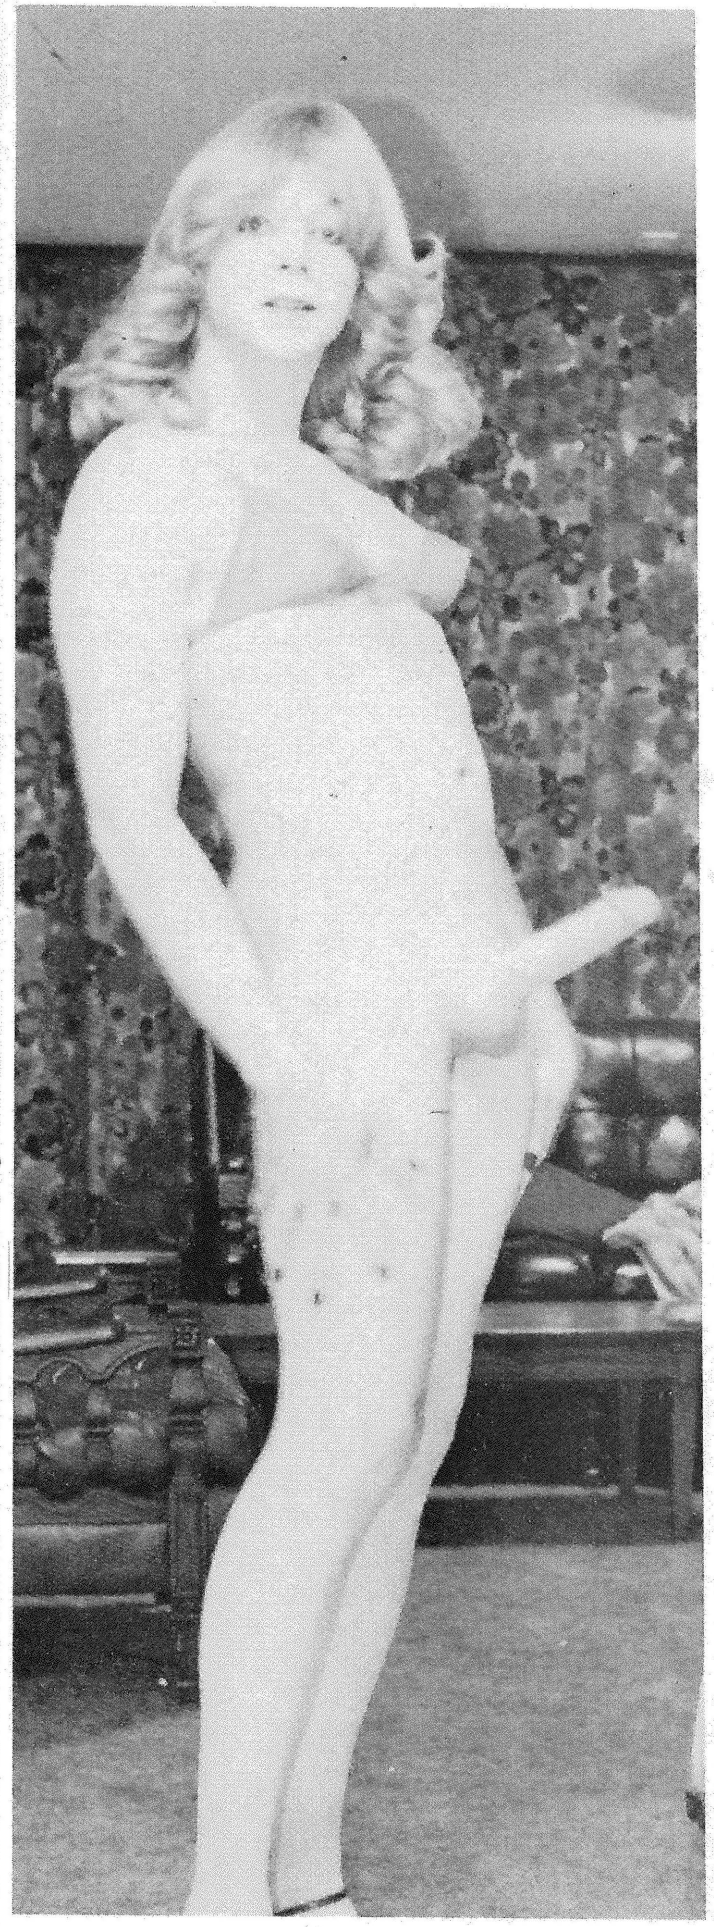

Suddenly more and more female impersonators were admitting they were gay. They started to grow their hair long and some even started living at women full time, using female hormones and plastic surgery to feminize themselves. As female impersonation began to die out as an art form, fewer truly talented individuals studied the craft.

Today, unfortunately, many female impersonators are merely part-time performers. Some have to hold down regular jobs, while others resort to hustling to make ends meet. They no longer have the money to spend on lavish wardrobes because the jobs simply do not pay that well. However, today, there seems to be an increase in cabaret entertainment, and perhaps the art of female impersonation will yet be revived.
